To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser: Sir:—As you seem disposed to unfurl your flag in defeuse of planters and plantations who appear at the present moment to be threatened rather than attacked by certain very heavy columns of the heaviest kind of infantry, which are being marshaled in the Gazette, apparently with the object of acting as a support and reserve when the real attack ommences, it may not be unprofitable for some one to take notes of the situation and report from time complished, and every public and private interest to time to headquarters. real end and object of the movement. The third battalion of a very imposing looking The Girl of the Period-Fearfully and division has just moved up (see Gazette of October 9th, "Labor and Population-No. 8"), and with my glass I see inscribed on its banners the following portentous and oracular motto, with reference to the great probability (which seems condescendingly admitted) that "this is to become a sugar growing country." "Let us," it says, "give up the idea of an Empire of the Pacific based upon a condition of labor, and Government incident to the prosecution of one industrial pursuit, and that the cultivation and manufacture of sugar; history does not justify such expectations." What may be the full meaning of this sibylline utterance, I am unable to report, suspect however that it is merely a species of Indian war paint designed to overawe and intimidate a neighboring tribe, already somewhat aroused at the warlike preparations going on. From a cursory ex-amination of the "heavy columns" over which this high, four pounds of whalebone in strips, 1,760 motto floats, I am inclined to think that whenever it may be necessary to bring your artillery to bear ten pounds of raw cotton, or two wire bemispheres. on them, their imposing numbers will only prove so

Among this incongruous crowd I also notice a well known "fighting colonel" who boldly unfurls his banner to the breeze, on which I see the simple but touching inscription, "J. O. C." This officer has had the repute of ignoring the adage that " dis-cretion is the better part of valor," and indeed be supposed to be so "full of fight" as to be ready to attach himself to any chieftain who may offer one peck of six button gloves, one lace handkerhim a job in that line. Withdrawal of the subscriptions of ten or twelve planters on Maui, who, it will be remembered, met at Wailuku and passed resolutions not to trade with any one employing the P. C. The Acors public opinion was with the paper, and would have triumphantly sustained it, had I chosen to abandon my long-cherished plan of withdrawing from it. And you, Messrs. Publishers, doubtless know who are your "principal supporters" to-day, quite as well as your correspondent, and that no paper prostituted to the support of any single interest, or any single class, ever did or ever will prosper here or elsewhere. The only platform on which the Pacific COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER has ever stood is "the greatest good of the greatest number." A "change of base" from this broad and liberal platform, to suit your correspondent, or any other man, or class of men, is hazardous. The attack of your correspondent on the new Cab-inet partakes of the same defiant tone which charinet partakes of the same defiant tone which characterizes other portions of his communication, (not-withstanding his disclaimer of any such intention.) Although the present Ministry, (with its one vacant scat.) is not, perhaps, fully up to the requirements of the nation, His Majesty has doubtless endeavored to make such a selection as will reflect the known sentiment of his people, while at the same time it guarantees harmony, and, what is of more importance, the unity, independence, and perpetuity of the Hawaiian race and institutions.

It is idle to discuss the increase of population, which is just now attracting so much attention, until our labor system and the laws relating to it are more in harmony with those of the leading civilized nations.

This system is opposed to the spirit of our Constitution and otherwise liberal laws and institutions. Labor like capital, is extremely cautious, and seeks employ-ment wherever it can find the largest reward and the best security. We may, by misrepresentations, entice laborers to come here, as we can capital; but labor, and capital thus obtained are the dearest and most unsatisfactory in the end. Until the people have become thoroughly aroused to the absolute necessity of more population (not simply laboring men, but men, women and children) -until all interests are ready to unite for the public good-until the administration can be induced to work in harmony with the public sentiment, expressed, not in packed assemblages, but openly, clearly, and without restraint-nothing can be accessed.

Respectfully yours, H. M. WHITNEY. Wonderfully Made.

A recipe for making one of this year's fashionable young ladies, is thus given by a Saratoga correspondent:—Take ninety pounds of flesh and bones—but chiefly bones—wash, clean, bore holes in the ears and cut off the small toes; bend the back to conform to the Grecian bend, the Boston dip, the kangaroo droop, the Saratoga slope, or the bullfrog break, as the taste inclines; then add three yards of linen, two umbrellas with leather waist straps, 100 yards of ruffles, 75 yards of edging, 18 yards of dimity, 1 pair of silk cotton hose, with patent hip attachments, one pair of false calves, six yards flannel (embroidered), yards steel wire, three-quarters of a mile of tape, one wire basket to hold a bushel, four copies of a New York paper (triple sheet), 150 yards of silk, or other dress goods, 500 yards of point lace, 1,400 yards of fringe or other trimmings, 13 gross of buttons, one box pearl powder, one saucer car-mine, an old hare's foot, one bushel of false hair frizzled and fretted al' Africaine, one bundle Japanese switches, with rats, mice and other varmints. drops of the "Blessed Baby," or "West End." Stuff the head with fashionable novels, ball tickets, play bills, and wedding cards, some scandal, a great deal of lost time, and a very little poodle dog; add a half grain of common sense, three scruples of religion, and a tincture of modchief with a modest hope that it may be of some esty. Season with vanity, affectation and folly. Garnish with ear rings, finger rings, breastpins, chains, bracelets, feathers and flowers to suit the in a fashionable circle, and stew by gas-light for six hours. The residents here had expected and made preparations to accommodate as many as fifty. But it is their own fault. They were told beforehand, and might have well known, that Honolulu people cannot go on, pleasuring excursions so near quarter day. Messrs. for the offense of practicing medicine without a license. The patient in that particular case had died under the hands of the doctress, and it was believed that death had been hastened by her treatment. She appealed to the Circuit Judge, W. P. Kamakau, and the decision of the Police Magistrate was confirmed. She appealed to a jury, and at the July term of the Supreme Court a verdict was rendered against her. Through counsel, she then took exceptions to the rulings of the presiding judge, with a view to obtaining a new trial. On Monday last, the exceptions were argued before the full bench, and were overruled. Now Mrs. Waahia is a bit of a prophetees and seer as well as a doctress, in fact the prophetess and seer as well as a doctress-in fact she is what the American Indian would call, "a big medicine woman," in the belief of her numerous followers. She prophesied that if she were sent to prison, the walls thereof would fall apart. And she went there on Tuesday last, in confident expectation of the coming catastrophe, which for some unaccountable reason has been so far delayed. But she has many dupes among the natives who are seriously looking for something to happen on her behalf.
